

Instructions to JSJR members when submitting an article to the Japanese Journal of Helicobacter Research

To ensure your article is complete and consistently organized, please check the following when writing your manuscript:

1. Check that you have satisfied each requirement of the following checklist.
2. Ensure that the corresponding author(s) have signed the section below.
3. Submit this document along with your manuscript.

The editorial board of The Japanese Society for Helicobacter Research

Manuscript submission checklist

Date of check:

Carry out the following:

1. Check the requirements and tick the boxes.
2. Attach this document to the cover of your manuscript.
3. Submit your article to the JSJR.

Contributor's name:

Affiliation:

Article title:

Select the type of article you are submitting:

- Original article Case report Review Letters to the Editor
- I/we have not submitted this article to any other journal, and do not plan to do so.
- I/we have observed the ethical guidelines.
- I/we have observed the rules on protecting patients' privacy.
- I/we have reported any conflict-of-interest concerning the article.
- I/we have prepared one original and two copies of the article.
- I/we have also prepared an abstract in Japanese (of 400 characters or less).
- I/we have given an accurate English title for the article.
- I/we have given appropriate keywords for the article.
- I/we have given keywords in both English and Japanese (3 words or less per keyword for each language).
- I/we have made no errors in the address/affiliation/name/phone number in the author address lines .
- I/we have given correct name(s) in English (in Roman characters).
- I/we have made no errors in the References section.
- I/we have made references to figures and tables in the text.
- I/we have specified the number of offprints of my article.
- My/our article has received final confirmation from the corresponding author(s).
- I/we have rechecked all requirements and other matters regarding contributions.

Corresponding author's signature (original signature):

The following sections are for the editorial board. Do not write anything.

Received date:

Accepted date:

Reviewer(s):